

TRIOMPHALE

LONDON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA GALA CONCERT

23 JUNE 2022 - ST PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

Inspiring hearts and minds through world leading music making

Triumphale

Celebrating the return to life of the City of London with a musical performance like no other, Sir Simon Rattle directs a spectacular, site-specific performance of Berlioz's colossal Grande symphonie funèbre et triomphale in one of the few places that can do it justice: St Paul's Cathedral.

"Come, you chosen heroes! Change your victors' laurels for the garlands of immortality!" Hector Berlioz was never one for understatement, but even by his standards, the Grande symphonie funèbre et triomphale was something unprecedented: a towering monument in sound, written to be performed in an enormous public space and scored for a small army of marching musicians.

Any performance is a special occasion, but for Triumphale Sir Simon Rattle takes it to the next level, using the vast spaces of St Paul's Cathedral and its surroundings to create a musical event on a scale rarely seen. And once inside the Cathedral, three of Messiaen's most personal masterpieces provide a dazzling complement to Berlioz's one-off sonic spectacular – and raise the roof all over again.

Across the City, companies are seeking to bring life and employees back to their workplaces, and we invite you to join us in this historic celebration and be part of this landmark event Triumphale!

Sponsorship and table opportunities

Sponsorship of this event offers a meaningful way to demonstrate commitment to the City of London and to the cultural lives of those who live and work here, as well as ensuring and enjoying association with the ongoing success of one of the UK's most renowned cultural institutions, the London Symphony Orchestra.

The London Symphony Orchestra is acclaimed as one of the world's great orchestras. The LSO has an enviable family of artists and long-standing relationships with the world's most prominent conductors and musicians. The LSO is Resident Orchestra at the Barbican Centre in the City of London, where it presents around 70 concerts a year to its London audiences, in addition to frequent visits to metropolitan cities in the United Kingdom. The LSO also enjoys successful residences at the Lincoln Center in New York, at the Philharmonie de Paris and Aix-en-Provence in France, and at Suntory Hall in Tokyo. Other regular tour destinations include the Far East and Asia Pacific, the Americas, and all the major European cities.

The London Symphony Orchestra is set apart from other international orchestras by its inspirational and pioneering education and community programme – LSO Discovery. It utilises the artistic excellence of the LSO's virtuoso musicians for the achievement of social and educational outcomes, engaging with over 60,000 people from diverse communities every year. LSO Discovery delivers inspirational projects which provide children and young people, many of whom face challenging circumstances, with the abilities and opportunities that deliver positive change in their lives. Educating children and young adults and using music to develop the skills and talents that young people need to succeed in the 21st century is a core principle for the LSO and each of its musicians.

The LSO is a powerful creative force, renowned for its world-class performances, an unrivalled global presence and dynamic social impact programmes. It is a pioneer in the development of innovative recording and digital platforms, transforming music's reach with emerging technologies to millions worldwide. The LSO connects its sponsor partners with a loyal and discerning global audience, and has a track record of ensuring a competitive advantage for its corporate partners.

Always Playing Appeal

This gala concert will be a wonderful celebration for the world-renowned London Symphony Orchestra, resident at the Square Mile's Barbican Centre, and having long enjoyed a strong association with St Paul's Cathedral. The coronavirus pandemic has had a devastating impact on the finances of many of the arts organisations that enhance our lives and our cities with their cultural offering. For the London Symphony Orchestra, funds usually generated through ticket sales, international tours, recording sessions and corporate sponsorships were decimated instantly. Across the sector in 2021, 50,000 musicians left the industry due to the impact of the pandemic. In order to retain and sustain their membership of 100 of the world's most talented musicians, the LSO cut into their reserves. The Always Playing Appeal was launched to re-build, protect and sustain their freelance musicians for the future, as well as building on the digital innovations of the last two years to share the life-enhancing power of music and music education with millions more around the world.

Your sponsorship of this milestone event will support the LSO's Always Playing Appeal and enable us to build back stronger, ensuring more world-class music for more people, and more educational outreach to inspire and support more young people.
